

A-10 Spirits Speak with Humans as if by Phone

I am inviting the reader to come with me into this immense world of the spirits, a world of which we are currently only 10% aware because we reject it so much.

Client JM was doing psychotherapy by phone when he said:

- There is interference on the line
- I'm not hearing anything on this end, I said.

He hung up, called again and continued his analysis. Suddenly, he stopped again because of some more interference.

- What did you hear, I asked.
- A woman speaking about suicide and terrible things.
- It seems to be the influence of a malignant spirit, even though it appears to be only a technical difficulty.

It's shameful that human beings are inverted due to their envy, but it's important to see that society is as well. As a consequence, man has created a monstrosity of terrible laws and rules which have only served to create revolt and despair among peoples. Neither educational institutions nor religion have managed to solve man's problems because they have not been able to get to the root cause of the difficulty.

- I only have negative ideas.
- Like what, for example?
- Like the fact that I do not accept others and think they want to attack me.
- And what do you think these ideas are all about?
- Temptations?
- It is important to perceive these temptations.
- Where do they come from?
- From the spirit world?
- In that case, it's important to be aware of them, isn't it?
- This is fundamental in order to avoid them in the future.

When the client got up from the couch and started to leave, she said:

- Do you think I'm crazy?
- No. You are just like other people. Everyone feels these temptations you feel.

She breathed a sigh of relief and left.

I can say that pathology is synonymous with absence — whether that's absence of action, of feeling, or of an idea. Illness is characterized by the behavior of not perceiving what one does, of not feeling or thinking. In this way, mankind has lived through centuries and centuries in almost total ignorance of the main reason for its troubles.

- I do not perceive the envy that I most likely have of my colleagues and even of my family.
- Psychopathology is mainly the absence of knowledge.
- Then that's why Socrates said, "Know thyself"?

Man began to think like demons after he rejected the Creator, becoming like those who are meaningless or undesirable. Only now, after Freud's discovery that the fundamental cause of our ills is imperceptible, is it possible to arrive at the origin of our problems.
